Breed Theatre and Majertle Roof Garden. "The Heart of Maryland," an claborate film version of the famous stage play of the same name by David Belanco, will be shown at the Breed theatre and Majestic Roof Garden, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The screen version or account of the greater scope of the him field, will surpass the stage version in many respects and equal it in all others. Cath-orine Calvert, the Vitagraph star, heads an all-star cast in the role of Maryland Calvert. In her notable company are Crane Wilbur as leading man, Felix Krembs, William Cellier, Jr., Ben Lyon,

The picture has been nearly six months in the making. It has the advantage over the stage production of showing thrilling scenes in the great struggle between the North and the South that only could be reproduced on the screen. The entire company went south in order to set the proper ou the screen. The entire company went south in order to get the proper scenery and "atmosphere" for back-grounds and was fortunate enough to enlist the sympathy and therefore the help of real southerners. The picture has been made on a tremendous scale, and no expense or time comedy is included in the program. It is entitled "On a Summer's Day" and is said to be a corker. A Paramount magazine will also be shown. A chest around which much tradition has grown was used in the Antonia Moreno production, "The Secret of the Hillsr," which will be shown at the Strand theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. One of the tales is that at one time it was in the possession of Cup-tain Kidd. Whether this is authentic or not is a subject of great dispute among collectors of antiquities. Kidd's finitials and mark are found scratched

Another tradition woven around the trunk affirms it was originally on one of Columbus' three ships and presented to the Indians. A Spanish design and the arms of King Ferdinand which are carved on the front give testimony as to the authenticity of this vars. Whatever the facts may be, the whatever the lacts may be, the chest is very old and is in possession of a collector of antiquities in Hong-wood. It was with great difficulty that Director Chester Bonnett obtained a loan of the antique for the production.

The owner expressed great doubt when Mr. Bennett informed him it was to be buried and discovered by the hero. After much persuasion, the thought that this adventure would add to the tradition already grown up around the chest, induced the owner to concent to chest, induced the owner to consent to the loan. In addition the man fur-nished a number of pieces of antique jewelry and many rare coins to fill the The collection which was buried in
